

GREG KOCH

photo: randelgunter.com

Greg Koch is a guitar player's guitarist known for his blues-infused, stylistically diverse compositions and electrifying guitar performances. With a prolific career spanning over 20 records, Koch has carved out a unique niche in the music world, blending elements of blues, rock, and jazz into his signature sound.

At the helm of the Koch-Marshall Trio, Greg is joined by his exceptionally talented son, Dylan, on drums, and Hammond organ virtuoso Toby Lee Marshall. Together, they deliver powerful live performances that captivate audiences both domestically and internationally. Their shows brim with bold improvisation, spirited interplay, and a dynamic energy that resonates with blues purists, guitar enthusiasts, and lovers of off-the-cuff musical synergy alike.

NEW RELEASE OUT NOW Blues

on Devon Allman's
Create Records

"I believe Greg Koch is pound for pound the best guitar player in the world today. His, tone, feel and style are unrivaled in today's guitar playing community. He is scary good. It was a true honor to do shows with him." JOE BONAMASSA

"The Gristleman is one of the most prodigiously gifted players of his generation, playing a kinetic hybrid style of country, blues, rock 'n' roll and jazz... It's one hot jam." GUITAR WORLD

GREGKOCH.COM